- Empowering Education: Shekinah Center's Growing Network of Support

Thanks to a strong partnership in favor of education, Shekinah Center is now even better equipped to empower its students, thanks to incredible partnerships! The International Labour Organization (ILO) in Geneva generously donated 20 computers, while the non-profit "3 Pommes" from Namur contributed 35 more, along with 2 laptops from a Senior Officer at the University of Alberta(Lise Niyuhire).

These 57 computers demonstrate a shared commitment to developing crucial digital skills. They'll open up new learning opportunities for Shekinah Center students, helping them master modern technologies and prepare for their futures.

Our growing network of support now includes new partners like "SEL BELGIQUE" in Belgium and "Les maillons de l'espoir" in France. Their collaboration further strengthens our mission to provide quality education and equip our students for success.

- The "My School, My Home" Approach: An Educational Vision That Inspires Beyond Borders

The "My School, My Home" approach, focused on supporting the child both at school and at home, has gained international success. We are now sharing this educational philosophy during tours and international conferences in the "My School, My Home" Approach: An Educational Vision That Inspires beyond Borders, Belgium, Sweden, and France. The goal is to present our model, engage new partners, and raise funds. In this way, we aim to duplicate this holistic approach in new municipalities and provinces, providing more rural children with the tools they need for their development.

• Appreciation at Shekinah Center: Driving Excellence for All

At Shekinah Center, recognition is essential. Rewarding students motivates their perseverance and inspires others to strive for excellence, proving that effort pays off. We also honor our teachers for their initiative and dedication, recognizing their crucial role in the success of young people. Thus, rewarding at Shekinah Center creates an encouraging environment where everyone can reach their full potential.
